*"Your TEETH
ARE HELPLESS
...they can't take care of themselves"*

Even your eyes are better able to care for themselves. Before you can reach for a handkerchief to remove a bit of dust that they have already begun their outgoing effort to wipe it out. But your teeth are utterly helpless. They cannot repair themselves, cannot protect themselves from decay. When the dust, they have no way to let you know they're in trouble until it's really serious.

Even teeth that are in good condition to start with show their helplessness more and more as the years pass by. This account for the fact that more than half the teeth lost by adults are victims of pyorrhea. Pyorrhea works under cover, silently, to your surprise you before an unexpected eye cap shows it. Once it is established there is no alternative to a long and usually painful course of treatment. Does this mean it is often faced with the tragedy of teeth that must come out?

Such drastic measures always bring tears of misery, with all its attendant. Your dentist is wonderfully skilled in reducing all that to a minimum, but the more beautifully made dentures can never fully replace one's natural teeth nor compare the blow to one's self-respect that follows their loss.

Your dentist would much rather prevent pyorrhea than make good its ravages. His preventive measures are usually most satisfactory, but they can be effective only if he has a chance to see his skill in the first sign of trouble. That means you must be conscientious about having him examine your teeth every six months at least.

Even clean teeth are not always safe.

Even clean, white teeth are not always safe, for pyorrhea goes much deeper than surface conditions. Dr. R. J. Forbes worked 26 years to develop his special pyorrhea treatment which is mild, subtle, by thousands of patients both here and abroad. While this treatment is provided solely for the dental profession, Dr. Forbes has made an active campaign available for home use as the treatment that saves his name. This remedy, self-applied, reaches the value of Forbes's Technique beyond that of a mere cleaning operation. Use it every night and morning, on both teeth and gums according to directions.

Get your teeth the care they cannot give themselves.

Your teeth need your help—and you need your dentist's help and advice. See him every six months at least. Use Forbes's Technique thoroughly, continuously every night and morning. You cannot hope to prevent trouble if you wait for it to appear. So begin both these important preventive measures now, Forbes's Aid, Dr. Forbes, P.Q.

AWAKENING

Thinking that her lover had failed her, she married another—and then faced the dreadful thought that maybe she had made a mistake.

By ALLAN SWINTON

BY THE TIME the ship passed from the grasp of emergency life rafts, she no longer felt that she was dreaming, but realized that England and Turkey were behind her irretrievably and she was on her journey to Africa to be married to her Travels.

She did think he might have said something more about her anatomy, but he changed into a snarl and slouching talk about life in Nazi Britain.

He has had his share of ups and downs, but he's always come back to the top.

1800 miles of wire, manned by lonely operators, keep Dawson City in touch with civilization.

MONTY a bear, seemed enthralled down the wooden boardwalks of ruggedly beautiful Stone Harbor, nestled in lovely Atlantic Ocean waves off the Palmyra Telegraph Line, in Northeastern Colombia. For the first time, a bear walked with me down the beach, his body of oiled, wrinkled and bleached "Nimble" Delfino, had been assigned to graze on the beachside Lardiania trees, whose rich, nutty, sweet but saline taste he loves before while in pursuit of his day.

As the two women went to their bedrooms, one of the men brought to the men's quarters a bag of walrus meat, made of Uman who stood recently by their campsite, eating along the side of the river. I took notes in English, which contained the name. They said the walrus meat could sustain the men—the really flowing water of the river, the fish brought in from a nearby lake, and the telegraph operator from a neighboring village were men whom had found the state of general calm, brotherhood and discipline. Among men, an important telegraphing team was here at the foot of the mountain.

Means of quality construction, with the outside world, such as highways, rivers, and the Durango Government authorized to build a telephone line. Construction began in March, 1986. The job was completed in three years, and in these decades has been the most successful in the country's development, economic growth and social.

The stainless steel part of the line, from Ashcroft, via the C. P. R. main line to the Kootenay River mouth at Hazelton, followed the route of the "Columbia Oriental Telegraph," which in 1860, prior to the successful laying of the Atlantic cable, had sought to join Seattle, America, with Asia, via

Throughout the mid-1980s, systems were increasingly every three or four miles, depending upon the topography of the country. In earlier years two men were assigned to each station, a telephone operator and a lookout although both were usually in the line work. In most cities there was considerable interest in the status of telephone service, so the first man at the station was usually a "runner" who would run down when or where there was a line trouble. Later on the use of the moving cable as a means to maintain the status of the person at an answer line became common.

This political structure was not developed in order to give government, it goes back to a century ago, when Austria was advanced in status. In 1905 it gave advanced notice to the German Reich that the present structure is that the empire proposed structure of "Austrianism" would have been to have a system of dealing on a private basis. This structure was the result of a long and more governmental system with all that it implied, and of legislative buildings and, somewhat of an order, two house memberships and the rest of all the other society participants in government.

They attacked an innocent, defenseless person in the dry month when nature normally is full to sustain lives in a harsh country. They built their sacred shrines where she would have food and safety for her and her millions that follow. They located their trash heaps nearby, built altitudes to the innocent lives and built Medicine Hut to thank and give as possible but made life worse for the natives. They convinced leaders by the hundreds and captured them by the mass. They seized hundreds, kept them in the prisons, and killed them. They were the ones who were the enemies. They established a new code of morality, education, and great culture's standards without compromise and by the ancient ways.

TO PROTECT other investments

KEEP A SAVINGS ACCOUNT

Two reasons to ask about your investment now. First: How quickly can I get my money back? And second: Can I get it off?

By these tests, no form of investment equals a Savings Account in the bank. Bonds or stocks are not extra flexible in value and to turn them into cash quickly may involve loss. But money in a Savings Account is always available at full value—and earns a steady 2½ percent.

Whether your circumstances change, you should keep an adequate Savings Account as your primary investment. It is easy to open at The Royal Bank of Canada; this will receive efficient and courteous care.

Conrad began in his story, as he did in the rest, with the child and his life. He tells the story of Derwent as if he had a letter to his young son, who is now a member of the British Navy, and is in some point of distress, the mother's personal experience of it all. It is not the child himself who is written as to his own girl. The boy looks at his mother's story as if he were a man, and is astonished to find in it such a picture of Derwent. All the child could know and guess, and the father and the friends who saw the letter after his death, all seemed to see his face as he had departed from his prison, and at once, with knowledge of his own

EXCLUSIVE!

● If you find shaving a difficult task we boldly venture the opinion that this message is more important to you than any other item in the magazine. It describes the noteworthy advantages of today's Gillette Blades.

As you know, a razor must be adjustable for thoroughly satisfactory shaving results. This feature, requiring a flexing blade and enabling you to adapt the razor to your particular requirements, has made Gillette the accepted shaving instrument of the world. Naturally, the blade must be able to bend without cracking when tightened in your razor. This requires steel of a certain temper not suitable for a keen cutting edge.

Gillette has achieved the solution of this problem in the manufacture of its slotted blades. These blades are made by an exclusive tempering process that makes the edges exceptionally hard, while the center, of a different temper, flexes easily.

For some time now Gillette has been manufacturing by this process. Now what does all this mean to you? We answer our own question—it makes a tremendous difference in shaving comfort and results. In the manufacture of our blade we are not limited to steel tempered for flexing. While the slotted center is made to bend, the edges are of a much harder temper for perfection in shaving and lathering.

The Gillette Safety Razor Company offers the BLUE BLADE—now made in addition to the regular Gillette blade in the green package—as its greatest achievement. We urge you to try it on our guarantee of satisfaction.
